

Time Is Wasted By Symington- McCarthy Scrap

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Symington offered today to testify in the McCarthy-Army hearings if Sen. McCarthy will agree to a special Senate investigation of his financial dealings. McCarthy declared he was willing.

Denouncing Symington's challenge as "a vicious smear," McCarthy said he was glad it was made on television "so millions of people can see how low a man can sink—I repeat, how low an alleged man can sink."

Criticized By Mundt
At another point, McCarthy said Symington had taken up the line of the Daily Worker, which McCarthy said has been belaboring him for years about old charges of malfeasance in office.

Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) broke in to criticize both Symington and McCarthy for what he called "a waste of time" in the current proceedings.

Mundt said it was difficult for him to find ways to stop "this mid-morning madness."

Symington dared McCarthy to go before a special Senate committee—which Symington suggested that Vice President Nixon should appoint—to answer questions raised by a Senate rules subcommittee in its report on a 1952 inquiry into McCarthy's financial dealings.

Will Answer "Smears"
Symington proposed McCarthy sign a written agreement with him.

McCarthy didn't sign it but said "if it is necessary to have a special committee to re-investigate these smears, I will now make a firm commitment to go before that committee to answer the smears."

The possibility that any such hearings will be held is remote. The Senate itself would have to vote such a procedure, irrespective of any agreement Symington and McCarthy might make.

Specifically, Symington, Missouri Democrat, mentioned among other things a $10,000 payment McCarthy received from the Lustron Corp., and the question of whether McCarthy had converted to personal use any funds contributed to McCarthy for his fight against communism.

Jelke Heir Playboy Inherits More Cash

NEW YORK (AP)—Society playboy Minot E. (Mickey) Jelke, whose conviction on vice charges was reversed recently, will inherit half of an estimated $250,000 estate left by his brother.

The brother, John F. Jelke III, is presumed dead. He was lost last January on a training flight from Mobile, Ala., to New Orleans as an officer in the Air National Guard.

The estate was equally divided between his sister, Mary Louanna, and his two brothers, Charles and Minot. The sister has died since the will was drawn on July 11, 1944.

Democratic Surge Wins For Roosevelt In California Vote

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California's unique run-on-both-tickets political system was shaken by a surprising Democratic vote in Tuesday's primary election.

The Democratic surge overrode national party criticism of James Roosevelt and helped the eldest son of the late New Deal President win nomination for Congress from heavily Democratic Los Angeles. He'll oppose Republican Theodore (Ted) Owings in November.

Scandal Ignored
Similarly, Rep. Robert L. Condon (D-Calif.), also renounced by Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell, was renominated and will face John F. Baldwin Jr., the Republican he defeated in 1952.

And right on down the line, Democrats nominated Democrats for national and state offices—in sharp contrast to previous elections when many Republicans, filing on both tickets, won both nominations and thus were elected in the primary.

Democratic voters obviously paid no heed to charges of infidelity against Roosevelt by his estranged wife and to the listing of Condon as a security risk by the Atomic Energy Commission. Roosevelt called his wife's accusations untrue. Condon testified he was never a Communist member or sympathizer.

Marshall Islanders Burned, Lose Hair In Atomic Showers

Editor's Note—A shifting wind cast radioactive ash along an uncharted path after the March 1 testing of the hydrogen bomb. The result was injury to two score Marshall Islanders. AP correspondent William J. Waugh went to the Marshalls and spent 10 days interviewing injured persons and their leaders. This is the first of two stories reporting his preliminary findings.

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
KWAJALEIN, Marshall Islands (AP)—They call themselves "the poisoned people."

There are the 82 natives of Rongelap Atoll who were showered by radioactive ash from the March 1 explosion of a hydrogen bomb.

One of them, John Anjin, said the ash rained down for 24 hours. "It looked like salt," he said. "It came down like a light rain. You could feel it strike your skin. It burned when it touched."

Some of the "poisoned people" lost their hair. Others were burned. Almost all of them are cured now—but they have been banished from their homes for a year. They are among the Marshall Islanders who have petitioned the United Nations to end atomic experiments in this area—or at least to see that the United States observes closer precautions.

Population About 11,000

The Marshall Islands, midway between Hawaii and the Philippines, came under U. S. control in the war 10 years ago. In 1947 the United States became their trustee under U. N. authority. The islands are low coral atolls with a population of about 11,000.

Natives of Bikini and Eniwetok atolls were uprooted in 1946-47 to make way for atomic experiments. In the March 1 blast the 82 persons on Rongelap and 154 on Utrik were exposed or endangered to such an extent that they were removed from their home atolls. The Utrik people have gone back, but the Rongelap people must wait a year until their atoll is considered safe. Anjin, a Rongelap leader, described the March 1 explosion: "First saw light, then smoke. Smoke went up, and right through the clouds. Later heard and felt blast. Wind so strong some people fell down. It banged doors."

Of the 82 Rongelap people, about 45 suffered radiation burns. Many of these were slight. The Democratic trend came in an election in which candidates continued the cross-filing system of running on both tickets. But for the first time in 40 years the ballot identified them by party. The abbreviation "Dem" or "Rep" followed the names.

Knight and Kuchel built huge majorities for their own GOP nominations. Veteran Republican state officials, consistent two-party winners in the past, also were forced into runoffs.

The returns all added up to a repudiation of the double nomination tradition in California and a reawakening of partisan voting. And three little letters probably had a lot to do with it.

Herbert McCready of Detroit was named regional CIO director as successor to Scholle.

Scholle's rival for election as president today was Wally Quillico, of Ford Local 600. Hopkins was opposed by Dan Ellis of Chrysler Highland Park Local 490.

Would Yield $67,000
The increase is calculated to bring in another $67,000 a year from the 700,000 members. Besides boosts for the president and secretary-treasurer, $15-a-week pay increases for staff members were proposed along with larger contributions to political and legislative activity.

People Are Angry
"Some were frightened," said a Rongelap medical aide. "By night children were crying. Many adults were sick."

A few days after exposure, some of the residents began losing their hair. Three days after the blast a destroyer arrived to evacuate the residents. The affected people received medical assistance here on the Kwajalein Atoll. A top medical team was flown from the United States, arriving March 10.

In April a survey party visited the two affected atolls. It was decided the Utrik people could return home, with adequate water and food supplies to be furnished them, but the Rongelap people would have to stay off their atoll for a year. They will live, meantime, on 14-acre Ejit in the Majuro Atoll.

"There is anger among some people," Anjin said. "I think it will disappear if we get back home. They trust the American people."

He said the Rongelap people have been taken care of since their arrival on Kwajalein—with all the food, clothing, medical care and entertainment they need. Physically, Rongelap people today bear few signs of their exposure. Those who lost hair are getting it back.

Family Squabble Ends; Michigan CIO Pay Raised

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Michigan CIO Council today voted pay increases of $1,000 a year for its two top officials and $15 weekly pay boosts for council staff members.

Action came almost without discussion on a nearly unanimous show of hands after delegates heatedly debated the proposal Tuesday.

The salary raises were approved after delegates ended a heated controversy over increasing the per capita tax by ordering a roll call vote later today.

August (Gus) Scholle, veteran of the state CIO, was in the middle, both as advocate of the tax boost and recipient of the pay increase if re-elected as council president.

Scholle, longtime president, stood for re-election today along with Barney Hopkins, veteran secretary-treasurer. Hopkins also would draw a $1,000-a-year pay increase.

Can't Hold Two Jobs
Presently, Scholle is paid $7,500 a year and Hopkins $7,000. Both pay raises proposals ran into vigorous opposition from delegates Tuesday night. Opponents indicated they would demand rollcall votes today.

For the first time the state CIO will be paying its president's full salary this year. Scholle got the bulk of his pay from the national CIO in his position as Michigan-Indiana CIO regional director. He quit the latter job, however, under the CIO's recent ruling which forbids regional directors from holding two jobs.

The debated per capita tax increase proposal was for a one cent a month increase—from 4 cents to 5 cents.

Accused of Misconduct
Finnegan, 54, is now serving a two-year sentence at the Federal Penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind., for misconduct in office. He was convicted for representing law firms in dealing with the government while he still was a government employee.

Federal Judge Walter Bruchhausen signed the order for Finnegan Tuesday shortly after a jury of seven men and five women was selected to try Nunan.

If convicted on all five counts, Nunan, 55, could be sentenced up to 25 years in jail and $25,000 in fines. A long list of Treasury agents is expected to testify.

Aide Also Indicted
The former chief tax collector of the nation from 1944 to 1947 pleaded innocent to the tax evasion charges on Dec. 11, 1952, and has been at liberty in $1,500 bail.

His former aide, Daniel A. Borch, also has been indicted on tax evasion charges and will face trial Nov. 1.

BERLIN (AP)—The East German radio announced Tuesday night that Georg Dertinger, former foreign minister of the Soviet zone government, has been sentenced to 15 years in prison for plotting to overthrow the Red regime.

The broadcast said five other alleged conspirators, including two of Dertinger's women secretaries, were given terms ranging from 3 to 13 years.

Dertinger, 51, was arrested Jan. 15, 1953, on a charge of espionage for the West. His wife was arrested at the same time but the broadcast last night made no mention of her.

Dertinger was a leading member of the East zone Christian Democrats, who collaborate with the ruling Communist party. He was foreign minister from October 1949, when the East German government was set up, until his arrest.

The broadcast said he was accused of espionage for U. S. intelligence agencies.

Seaway Port Boom Predicted In Escanaba-Manistique Area

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—Your head will swim at some of the problems and benefits state officials expect when the St. Lawrence Seaway reaches Michigan waters of the Great Lakes.

These are some of the predictions offered at a conference in Gov. Williams' office Tuesday.

The state's annual two per cent normal population gain will jump to 30 per cent a year and Detroit's population will climb to 3,700,000 persons 10 years after the seaway opens.

Tremendous highway, housing, urban and rural zoning and industrial expansion problems will result.

Boon To Upper Peninsula
The Escanaba-Manistique area is best suited in the state for a major port expansion.

Must Work Together
The growth of population and the influx of industry, with its highways, airports and rights-of-way, will take much good agricultural land out of production and gobble up many fine recreational spots.

These were some of the problems envisioned by state officials. To find solutions, Gov. Williams shaped the group into a State Agency Council to report in two weeks with nominations for a larger council representing industry, business, labor, government, education and others.

Thomas L. Lott of the State Waterways Commission told the group that there are too many public and private agencies setting up seaway planning and study groups. They must be coordinated, he said.

A successful port development, he said, must have a sizable "hinterland" to provide experts and absorb imports. Monroe and Detroit are rivals for that in the metropolitan area, he said, while the Escanaba-Manistique area presents one of the few areas of the state with sufficient "hinterland" to succeed.

Bert Robb, commission secretary, reported many eastern seaboard businesses are planning to move to the Great Lakes to be nearer markets and that Michigan has a great opportunity to attract new businesses.

Friend Of Truman Called In $91,086 Tax Evasion Case

The Upper Peninsula should reap a harvest because shippers of North Dakota wheat, Montana beef and Canadian grains, seeking the quickest route to water, should funnel through the Upper Peninsula instead of shipping to the West Coast.

The state must quickly buy more land for recreational purposes since larger urban populations will need room to play; state parks must be expanded.

The pressure of industry on public waters will be heavier, possibly causing a rise in water pollution.

New legislation is needed to permit private and public financing of port developments and industrial expansion.

Revise City Charter:

Work Nearly Completed By Charter Commission

Escanaba's Charter Revision Commission last night by resolution adopted a proposed revised city charter which will be compiled for review by the Commission and then submitted to the governor for approval.

Following governor's approval the charter will be on file at the office of the city clerk for at least 60 days and will then be submitted to the people for adoption in a special election, which may be held sometime in October.

The nine members of the Charter Revision Commission were elected in April, 1953, and since that time have held numerous meetings, both in committees and of the whole body, in preparing a revised charter to submit to the people.

Municipal Court

The present city charter was adopted in 1921. The members of the Charter Revision Commission are as follows:

Carl Sawyer, chairman, Miss Nina Ley, Mrs. Kay Gunderson, Hilmer Johnson, Atty. Wheaton Strom, Lowell Hebbard, Lander Johnson, Donald Moreau and George Embis.

Among other changes the proposed new charter provides:

For establishment of a municipal court, election of a municipal judge, and abolishing of the office of justice of the peace.

For a referendum and a three-fifths majority acceptance by the people of an offer to supply the city with public utility services. Both the old and proposed new charters prohibit "exclusive franchise" to any public utility.

Restrict Manager

For a city primary election in event the number of candidates for City Council is twice the number of seats to be filled.

For appointment of the city attorney (as well as the city manager, clerk and assessor) by the City Council. In the past the city attorney has been appointed by the city manager.

For Council "confirmation" of all appointments of administrative heads by the city manager. In the past the city manager appointed department heads without requiring "confirmation" of the Council.

The Charter Revision Commission was divided in its vote on appointment of the city attorney by the Council and on requiring Council confirmation of administrative appointments by the city manager.

City Attorney

Commissioner Wheaton Strom spoke in favor of appointment of city attorney by the Council, noting that in opinions to the Council the city attorney is legal adviser to a "legislative body" on "matters of far-reaching import."

"A policy - making attorney should be selected by the people who are making policy," he added.

Commissioner Nina Ley expressed the opinion the city attorney should be appointed by the manager and offered a motion which was defeated.

Chairman Carl Sawyer and Miss Ley opposed making administrative appointments by the city manager subject to Council confirmation.

"If the city manager isn't doing a good job, then let the Council fire him," said Chairman Sawyer. "But if he is doing a good job, then let him pick his own staff."

"People find it easy to sit back and criticize while the manager takes it on the chin," Chairman Sawyer added.

Retain 5-Man Council

A motion by Commissioner Hilmer Johnson to make the city comptroller an office filled by Council appointment was defeated. The position is now filled by appointment by the manager.

The Commission adopted a motion fixing the number of councilmen in the proposed new charter at 5, the same as at present.

The Commission defeated by a vote of six to three a motion to increase the number of councilmen from five to seven. The subject had been debated for several months by the Commission. The Commission recommended to the Council the question of a five or seven-man Council be submitted to the people in advisory vote, but the Council referred the matter back to the Commission to decide.

A resolution adopting the revised charter, so that it may be com-

Hospital Plans Are Sidetracked

Plans for expansion of St. Francis Hospital, announced last winter by Rev. Fr. John Weishar of Peoria, Ill., apparently will be sidetracked this year because of lack of funds to finance the sponsor's share of the project.

Father Weishar was not available for comment but hospital authorities have indicated that the expansion project will not materialize this year as previously announced.

The hospital has planned to construct a new wing and to provide extensive supplementary equipment in a project that was designed to cost in excess of $1,000,000. The federal government would have provided 55% of the total cost of the project and the balance would have been the responsibility of the sponsoring organization.

It was unofficially reported that the Sisters of St. Francis, who own the hospital, do not have sufficient funds available for the project at this time.

The board also approved the transfer of $490,000 in government securities now held by Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis to the Harris Trust and Savings Bank in Chicago.

Superintendent reported that the 1952 students had taken out the accident insurance last year costing $1.00 per pupil and that 34 accidents had occurred with $690.70 being paid by the insurance company.

Approved by the board was the continuance of the policy of having the Escanaba Athletic Field used by Holy Name Central High School. A committee was appointed to confer with the Holy Name High School authorities to determine details on costs.

The board also thanked Mrs. Richard Donahue, Rte. 1, Bark

LANSING (AP) — Tax allocation boards may allot different millages to different school districts within a county, an attorney general's opinion said today.

Millard said this does not violate any constitution or statutory provision.

Norton Scholarships Provide Educational Help To Many

THE broad scope of the Anna C. Norton Scholarship Fund, created by the bequest of the late John P. Norton to the Escanaba Board of Education, is indicated in the scholarships announced yesterday at the annual EHS Senior Honor Day program.

Fifteen Escanaba High School seniors were granted scholarships ranging from $950 to $1650. In all a total of $19,500 was distributed to 1954 graduates and winners of last year's Norton scholarships were each awarded an unexpected $200 additional fund to apply to their second year in college.

A young man who is awarded a Group A scholarship from the Norton Fund can be assured of getting a college education even though he may be unable to get any financial help from home. These scholarship grants are $700 the first year, $450 the second year and $250 for each of his last two years. To these sums the student can add the savings that he can make from summer time earnings. Also after the first year students with initiative and scholastic attainment can usually supplement their income with part time campus or off campus jobs. And finally, in the last two years of his college life, he can borrow from loan funds to complete his education if it should become necessary to do so.

The Group B and Group C scholarships are slightly less—totaling $1300 and $950 respectively—but they provide a terrific encouragement to the young man or young woman who desires a college education.

This is the second year that the Anna Norton Scholarships have been awarded but this is actually the first year that the amount of funds available were sufficient to attain the optimum scope of the program. Fewer winners were announced last year and each received a much smaller award. However, that was partially offset by an auxiliary award made this year to last year's winners.

Although the Norton Scholarships are the largest available to EHS graduates, there are a number of others, among them the H. W. Reade, the Catherine Bonifas, the A. J. Young, the Trades & Labor Council, the Escanaba Woman's Club plus the numerous scholarships offered by various universities and colleges. The total of these grants provide a tremendous opportunity for advanced education for a large number of high school graduates.

Differences Are Key To Human Relations

JOHN Allan May, a correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, recently took a fellow Birton to task for complaining that his country is presented to potential American visitors as a nation of quaint and colorful folk rather than of "tough, hard-working people" not unlike those in Pittsburgh or Baltimore.

May did not say that Britain did not have the kind of people his complaining countryman spoke of. In fact, he acknowledged it.

But he pointed out that England is also a nation of "tweedy sportsmen, distinguished Highlanders, company directors, students at Oxford, cute Guardsmen and palaces." He sees these all as part of his country's essence.

His ultimate argument:

"Good international relations do not depend, as some imagine, on people counting their similarities so much as on them appreciating their differences."

In this sentence, it seems to us, he has summed up one whole of a lot of good sense. The idea is applicable not merely to relations between the peoples of different countries, but of different regions within a vast nation like our own.

Internationally speaking, what May says applies to Americans no less than other peoples.

We begin to be knowledgeable human beings when we recognize the rich values in human differences, when we look eagerly for new patterns which give fresh expression to man's nature and his aspirations. This variety we must treasure as the essence of humanity, not as a postcard freakishness.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—More than 100 Escanaba boys and girls, mostly in their early teens, yesterday signed as members of the Victory Farm Volunteers to assist in August in the harvesting of over 150 acres of beans.

Escanaba—Beginning to seriously feel the effect of the manpower shortage for the first time since the war started the city of Escanaba, this spring entered its summer work program with 37 less employees than it had a year ago, according to a report from City Manager George E. Bean.

Gladstone—Deserter from the Army, Floyd E. Hanson of Ellison Bay, Wisconsin was apprehended by Sgt. Willard Nixon and Trooper Robert Leonard and is being held for Army authorities who are being notified.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Miss Doris Walker of Marinette and John Gaudin of Escanaba were united in marriage at a ceremony performed Tuesday morning in the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. Karl J. Hammar.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Gen. James Van Fleet, called home in the middle of a presidential fact-finding mission in the Far East, has recommended reopening the Korean war, invading the Chinese mainland, and unleashing our atomic weapons—if. The "if" is in case we are forced into a military showdown over Indo-China.

Van Fleet made it clear, however, that he doesn't favor U. S. intervention in Indo-China except as a last, desperate resort. Testifying behind closed doors of the Senate foreign relations committee, Van Fleet stressed that the fighting in Asia should be done by Asian troops backed by American air and sea power.

If we are drawn into the Indo-China war, Van Fleet advocated giving Syngman Rhee the green light to attack in Korea and turning Chiang Kai-Shek's troops loose on the mainland in order to keep the Chinese Reds "engaged in many quarters."

He also urged that "we should go in with everything we've got," including atomic weapons.

Van Fleet also spoke favorably of backing a Chinese Nationalist invasion of the mainland regardless of the outcome in Indo-China, though he made no out-and-out recommendation to this effect.

SILVER BULLETS

He suggested that some Chinese generals now on the Communist side could be bribed into switching their allegiance to Chiang Kai-Shek. Van Fleet quoted Chiang as predicting "mass defections" from the Communist army if his Nationalists ever returned to the mainland.

Van Fleet admitted that Chiang's army is growing old and needs "new blood," but claimed that native Formosans are slowly being integrated into the army. For example, he cited a reserve program that trains 20,000 young Formosans every four months, then releases them back into civilian life.

Van Fleet also admitted that Chiang's army is untested.

"You can't tell about an army until it has been tested," he said. It had been a mistake, he added, not to send a couple Nationalist divisions to Korea and test them under fire.

"Chiang's army has been trained and retrained. It is only now getting the equipment it needs," reported the general whose letter from Korea in the 1952 campaign did so much to win votes for Eisenhower.

He said we are fast approaching the hour of decision in the Far East, though he thought it wouldn't be too late to take decisive action "within the next 12 months."

Note—Van Fleet wrote a letter during the election campaign implying that the Truman administration had lagged in training South Korean troops. The letter was read by Eisenhower in one of his campaign broadcasts. Later, Van Fleet was retired, somewhat in a huff, because he had expected to be continued by his old friend in the White House whom he had helped. Van Fleet's current inspection trip was arranged partly to appease his ire.

ODE TO JOE

Genial Judge Hall, the Republican national chairman, doesn't know about it, but his functionaries, who are supposed to be taking orders from the President, are quietly circulating a poem favorable to Joe McCarthy. It was composed in the GOP National Committee and here are a few of its succulent stanzas:

"The pundits gave vent to this chorus: 'The republic may totter and fall. 'Our Allies soon will depart us, and Joe is the cause of it all. 'So haste to the Pentagon, brothers, and send a detachment to Ike; Summon a cabinet session, get Nixon in front of a mike!'

"Let everyone stir up this ruckus, let all of us get in the act. Let's blow up the battle with rumor, and never obscure it with fact. It's time to kill off McCarthy, it's time to turn out his light. It's time to say to the White House 'now Ike, let's you and him fight.'"

"Well, on with the terrible combat, let them wrangle it out for this bone. The Army can have handsome David, the wolves can have Mr. Cohn. But spare us sweet Joseph McCarthy—and render if you would know why: Without a Joe to belabor, the press would curl up and die."

ATOMIC GESTAPO

The final straw that has made members of the Atomic Energy Commission see red against Chairman Adm. Lewis Strauss is a recording device installed by Strauss at commission meetings.

In the past, commission meetings have been informal, relaxed, and featured all sorts of fascinating philosophical discussions of the future of atomic power. Today they are icecold, stiff, and edgy. Every commissioner knows that every word he says is being recorded, and he talks as little as possible before the Wall Street banker who has become czar of atomic energy.

The commissioners know that since the friends and words of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer 15 years ago were used against him today, together with his lack of "enthusiasm" for the hydrogen bomb, their words also may be used against them in the future. So there is less and less discussion, less and less honest agreement.

"Today," said one man, "we enthuse. We are all making a record. We can only hope that while we are making enthusiasm, they are making progress in making bombs out in the field."

Questions and Answers

Q—Will the U. S. recognize Red China?

A—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said in a Feb. 24 radio-TV speech that the presence of Red China at the April 26 Geneva meeting on Far Eastern problems does not mean the U. S. will recognize the Red regime. March 29 he reiterated the Geneva session will not mean recognition. President Eisenhower, in his March 24 news conference, said the U. S. attitude toward China had not changed.

Army Bares Filipino Con Ring Based On Fake War Claim

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—U. S. Army military police criminal investigators have uncovered a multi-million-dollar confidence ring in the Philippines which has been mulcting citizens and the U. S. Government through fraudulent claims arising from World War II.

Army officials admit that it adds up to a "complex, conspiratorial rats' nest." It involves:

Two former American GIs now being sought in the U. S. by the FBI.

Forged Army documents.

Bold impersonations of U. S. claims officials.

The swindling of hundreds of Filipino citizens.

As a result of the exposure of these criminal activities, scores of war damage and other claims pending from the Philippines, involving millions of dollars, are expected to be rejected. Many more will be given a double-check by the Army.

It's likely also that Congress will take a new, hard look at a pending bill HR 6451, which waives the statute of limitations on additional war claims from the Philippines.

The first clue to this fantastic conspiracy came to light last March when the Army claims office received copies of two letters signed by George Foster and Thomas Fleming, U. S. officials in the Philippines.

The letters appeared to be on official Army stationery, were addressed to a Filipino, and informed him that his claim for $1,192,890 from the Army for having supplied food and materials to guerrillas fighting the Japs had been approved.

Army officials realized something was wrong with the letters and sent a criminal investigator to the Philippines to find out what was going on.

The investigator quickly established that Foster and Fleming had not written the letters, that they were clever forgeries. Then contacting the Filipino to whom the letters were addressed, the investigator uncovered a major phase of the conspiracy.

Shortly after the Filipino had received the letters, he was approached two different times by Americans who identified themselves as Foster and Fleming. They told him that although his claim had been approved, he would have to give them $5,000 to bribe certain U. S. officials and for other expenses involved in winding up the claim.

The Filipino didn't think that this request was out of order in view of the great sum he was about to get from the U. S. Treasury. However, he sent the two forged letters to Washington. Fortunately the "CI man"—as Army criminal investigators are called—reached the Filipino before he was able to raise the $5,000 requested for a bribe.

After the Filipino met the real Foster and Fleming and admitted he had never seen them before, he went to Manila police files. There he identified one of the impostors as an American citizen who had a sizeable criminal record for various crimes.

The CI man identified the impersonator from Army records as an honorable discharge in Manila an American GI who had received and who had apparently come from a good, stateside family. His name is being withheld pending his arrest.

The placing of charges against him is complicated by the fact that most of his alleged crimes were committed in the Philippines.

Further investigation revealed that his accomplice in this specific case was also an honorably discharged GI. Manila police said that the pair had been in a lot of trouble and were suspected of being in on a whole series of confidence rackets.

Both men are now believed to be back in the U. S.

The trail of the former GIs quickly led to other Manila citizens who had received similar forged letters. One Chinese admitted that he was ready to pay their price to help expedite the final payment on his claim but that the pair had gotten drunk while discussing the deal over lunch. This made him doubt that they were U. S. officials.

It's not known how much the pair collected with this ruse. When it was learned that such a pay-off would implicate the payee, the CI man found it difficult to get information on just how much had been paid.

The continuing probe is attempting to find out just how many fraudulent claims the pair had their fingers in, with their possession of Army stationery and forged ability. The claim numbers the conspirators put on their forged letters also indicate that they had access to official files at some point.

Manila police have already cracked down on several individuals who are known to have been friends and frequent companions of the two former GIs. The frauds they were arrested for involved enormous claims to the U. S. for back pay while fighting with guerrilla forces against the Japs.

The claims were never actually filed with the U. S. Army. But these men collected large sums of money from scores of Filipinos by promising to get claims put through U. S. government channels.

Regardless of who is eventually punished for this elaborate conspiracy, Army officials claim that its exposure has saved U. S. taxpayers millions of dollars.

So They Say

I don't think anything put out by the Army is dishonest.—Maj.-Gen. Cornelius E. Ryan.

I wanted to leave with the last evacuee. I didn't want to take the place of a wounded man.—Nurse Genevieve de Galard-Terraube.

FAMILY SERVICE—The family is the social center in every community, and every community basically is no more than a collection of families.

The solution of family problems is, therefore, of benefit to the entire community. For from the unhappy and problem-ridden family most often comes the ill-adjusted "problem child," the juvenile delinquent—and the delinquent parent.

How is a community to cope with the problems of the family? Can it be done successfully through the already established courts and agencies?

Many people sincerely believe that something more is needed, and some communities—such as Marquette—have organized units of the Family Service Society. In fact, the Marquette Family Service Society is now in its 25th year and has an excellent record of accomplishment in community service.

WHY IT IS NEEDED—Civic leaders in Escanaba and in Delta County have become increasingly aware of the need for a Family Service organization here. They have come to this realization by personal knowledge of situations sometimes tragic and always unhappy.

An examination of the history of the Marquette Family Service Society will reveal what a similar organization could do to benefit the families in this community.

When the Family Service Society was organized in Marquette 25 years ago, it was suggested that a "number of families" could be "helped by advice and aid other than material relief," and that there could be "a substantial advance in the prevention of delinquency by an attack on its causes."

By 1936 the main objective of the Marquette Family Service Society was stated as follows:

"To restore to independence and normal life, where possible, handicapped families by means of careful planning and the carrying out of such plans."

And the following year the Family Service Society extended its "personality services necessary in cases of juvenile delinquency, non-support, alcoholism, inadequate homemaking, conflicts between man and wife, imprisonment," and the like.

By the shift in viewpoint from the giving of relief to "the development of wholesome family life," the Family Service Society entered a field practically untouched. For in the majority of "family trouble" cases today the cause is in personal and social problems, rather than economics.

FACING PROBLEMS—Law enforcement officers of Delta County and of the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone can tell you of many instances in which "family trouble" involved difficulties beyond their powers to solve.

No one is more aware of the need for a family consultation service in Delta County than Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas P. Chapekis. He has spent hundreds of hours in conferences over family problems—and knows that Family Service rather than law enforcement is the answer in most cases.

Doctors and lawyers also come into contact with families facing problems that require more than their professional services to solve—problems that unsolved may bring about the destruction of the family as a social unit.

Teachers and social workers and public health nurses also know of cases where Family Service could perform tasks either beyond their scope or for which they do not have the time.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION—The Marquette Family Service Society is affiliated with the Family Service Association of America.

Local units, however, remain locally directed and supervised, as in Marquette, where there is a board of directors, an executive committee, and an executive secretary.

The Marquette Family Service Society is supported entirely through the Community Chest. In Delta County there has been enough interest evinced by civic leaders, directors of the Community Chest, and others, to indicate that such a unit might be considered for inclusion in the Community Chest.

Certainly there should be continued effort to learn more about Family Service and its benefits—and its cost if it should be considered advisable to establish a unit for Delta County.

The Doctor Says... Self Treatment of Skin Disorders May Cause Complications

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

An excellent example of what one should not do is brought out in today's first inquiry.

Q—I am a housewife and lately have broken out with ringworm. My back and arms are completely covered. For the past two months I have tried several different medicines without result. Could this be caused by certain foods or perhaps nervousness?

A—Ringworm or dermatophytosis is a particular kind of skin disease caused by a fungus. Although it is true that it may attack different parts of the skin and take on different appearances, this certainly does not sound like ringworm but much more like some other kind of skin disease.

In any event, the correspondent should stop at once trying to diagnose or treat herself, since this may lead to wholly unnecessary complications. An immediate visit to a skin specialist for diagnosis and more accurate advice on treatment is indicated.

Q—I have read that the late Dr. Kurt Schumacher (the famous German politician) had lost his right leg as a result of phlebotrombosis brought on through Nazi barbarism in making him stand on his feet for long periods of time. Is this a common cause of phlebotrombosis?

A—Phlebotrombosis or thrombophlebitis is a condition in which the veins, usually in the leg, become inflamed and develop clots. In some older people, and in those whose veins are not in too healthy a state, prolonged standing is certainly not desirable and may perhaps cause, and almost certainly make worse if already present, a condition of this sort in the leg veins.

My brother, who is three years older, and I are both victims of contraction of the tendons of our fingers. I have been informed this affects males, being transmitted from the maternal parent. Would you please discuss this?

A—In all probability this is a condition known as Dupuytren's contracture, which is a slowly progressive contraction of the tissue known as fascia in the palm, occurring most often in men past middle life and usually involving the ring finger, little finger, or both.

In some cases it does seem to be tied to heredity as the inquirer suggests, though the cause is largely unknown. In the earliest cases nonoperative treatment is often advised, but for others the only effective method is surgery, and this is a rather formidable procedure.

Q—When I was four months pregnant I was in an automobile accident and fortunately was not seriously hurt. I am worried—is it likely that the baby was injured?

A—No one can say for sure, but it is not likely. Certainly you will not help the situation by worrying. Chances are that everything will turn out all right.

The policeman stepped back and looked at Ricky's coupe with a critical eye. "Not fancy, but not too bad," he said. "It has possibilities."

Ricky watched the policeman carefully, wondering what he was talking about.

"It hasn't been in the papers yet," the policeman said, standing by Ricky's window, "but around Thanksgiving the Allied Auto Council is going to sponsor a hot-rod show here. The idea is to build up the constructive side of the interest you kids have in hopping up cars. There'll be prizes for the best engines, the best design and all that. Interested?"

"Sounds right down my alley," Ricky said, as the idea began to burn inside him.

"We want to get kids from all over that state to enter," the policeman added. "And from the people who come, we might have the beginning of a state hot-rod organization that would keep the sports alive and get rid of the recklessness."

"Where do I sign up?" The policeman laughed. "I'll take your name and see that you get on the list. One thing, though, in order to qualify for the show, you've got to have a clean record. Any moving violations between the time you sign and the show, and you're out."

"Don't worry about that," Ricky said earnestly. "If you knew what a big chance . . . You see, I'm going to go into business doing . . . I'll keep clean. And how?"

"Fine," the police officer said, reaching into the coupe to give Ricky a friendly pat on the shoulder. "We'll look for you." He turned away to go back to his patrol car.

Ricky caught a flash of moving yellow behind the policeman. It was Link's convertible, moving past slowly as Link looked toward Ricky with a mocking grin on his face. After Link came Chub . . . and Sherm! With his DTA sticker on the windshield.

Ricky sat back with his shoulders sagging as the policeman walked away. Suddenly he hit the steering wheel with his fist. "That dumb Sherm!"

"What's the matter, Ricky?" Sharon hadn't noticed the other Dellville cars.

"Just as we're getting somewhere . . . Sherm's up ahead with Link and Chub, and he's got a DTA sticker on his car. If he gets in any trouble, what will that make us look like?"

"Sherm doesn't mean any harm."

"I'd like to warn him," Ricky said. "But I don't know where they're going, and I don't dare try to catch them."

"He'll be all right, Ricky."

"I wouldn't put it past Link to figure out something, just so the DTA would get a bad name. He's got Sherm along for a purpose."

Ricky started his car and drove slowly toward the drive-in movie, looking for his friends. He didn't have to look long. Several blocks on they came out of a side street, and fell in behind him. Ricky laughed, relieved.

"They're following us," Sharon said.

"Yeah, I know Link's idea. He thinks he stick with us and spoil our date. But this is one time I'm glad to see him try."

When Ricky turned in at the drive-in, his friends were right behind him. He picked an open row, so they could come up on both sides of him.

Sherm looked shame-faced as Ricky opened the door of his car and slid in beside him. "Hi, Rick. We thought we'd keep you company."

"That's all right with me," Ricky said. He moved closer to Sherm, grabbing his big friend by the arm. "I just want to tell you one thing, Sherm. You're carrying the DTA sticker. The cops know about it. They're beginning to respect it, too. If you get in any trouble while you're carrying that sticker, I'll wring your big neck. It would mean the end of our club."

"I wouldn't do anything to hurt the club," Sherm protested.

"Don't let Link suck you into anything."

"I gotta follow him if I'm with him, Ricky. You know that."

"Then don't be with him. Be with me. Follow me."

"You've got a date."

"You bet I have," Ricky said. "Right around Thanksgiving. And I aim to keep it. Now look . . ."

"The movie's starting," Sherm said. "It's the cartoon. Shut up."

Sherm was staring intently at the huge screen. Ricky slid his hand cautiously along the dash until his fingers closed around Sherm's keys. He pulled the ignition key and withdrew his hand.

"See you later, Sherm."

Ricky walked back to his car, slipping Sherm's keys in his pocket. There was more than one way to protect the good name of the DTA.

"I thought you were never coming back," Sharon said.

"I had to straighten Sherm out."

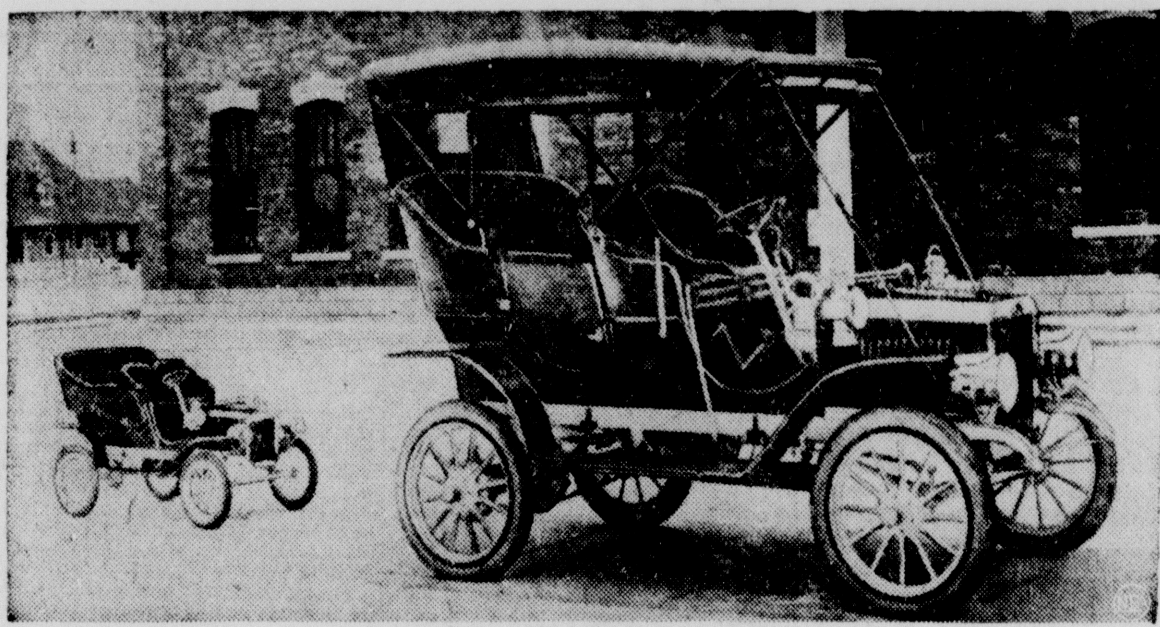

Ricky looked from left to right. Chub was parked close on his left, Link to the right. Instead of watching the screen they were staring into the coupe.

"Picture's up ahead," Ricky said to Chub.

Chub grinned. "Might be a better show in your coupe."

Ricky slumped behind his wheel. "I'm getting tired of those guys. For two cents I'd . . ."

"Don't let them get your goat," Sharon said. "They'll get tired of

Physicians Treat Souls; People Turn To Religion

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA—The medical treatment of men's souls—this is a new school of psychiatry which is growing up in Vienna, the birthplace of psycho-analysis.

"Logotherapy," as the new school is called, says doctors do not pay enough attention to man's spiritual strivings. It believes a combination of medicine and God can help men with atom-age neuroses—with high blood pressure, ulcers, nervous headaches, phobias and other symptoms.

Dr. Viktor Frankl, Vienna neurologist and president of the Austrian Society of Medical Psychotherapy, explains:

"Man is not driven only by animal instincts—those of sex, hunger and power—but primarily he is motivated in his deepest nature by strivings for a life full of meaning."

"Modern man, however, is often ashamed of God. He represses his spiritual longings like men of 50 years ago hid their sexual urges. He becomes confused and sick."

Frankl, 49, a Vienna University associate professor and founder of the new "logotherapy," seeks to harmonize religious faith with some of the basic concepts of Sigmund Freud and Alfred Adler.

Freud and Adler often are regarded as the fathers of modern psychiatry, but, although both were Viennese, Vienna generally has rejected their ideas.

Frankl himself was a pupil of both Freud and Adler. His modification of their ideas has been accepted by many doctors and teachers in Vienna and his methods have been introduced in France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Holland and Argentina. He is, however, virtually unknown in the United States and England.

Frankl estimates that three quarters of Europe's population is suffering from a collective sickness of the mind. They do not want to plan in the H-bomb era, they believe more and more in a fatalism that they can do nothing about the world, they are willing to surrender to the mass and become intolerant fanatics.

"Sometimes," says Frankl, "men talk more easily about their sexual histories than about their need for God."

"The patient is finally brought to recognize that he is born with a mission to fulfill. He no longer has to believe that he is a mere victim of hereditary, environment or instinctual drives and that he cannot control them. He is freed from his inhibitions about religion and can face the emotional problems of life."

Frankl says that none of the doctors who adhere to his school of thought offer their patients any particular religious doctrine. "When we have made a patient aware of his spiritual needs," he explains, "it may happen that he spontaneously seeks the way to the clergy."

Dead Body Found In Plastic Bag

RUGBY, England (AP)—The naked body of an 18-year-old sailor was found in a tightly fastened plastic clothes case Tuesday night aboard a speeding Blackpool-to-London train.

The dead youth, John Barber, was discovered in a washroom by the conductor, who noticed that the compartment had been engaged for more than an hour. The conductor forced the door.

Slumped on the floor, with the semi-transparent traveling wardrobe fitted around him like a glove, was the young seaman. His clothing lay strewn on the floor.

A doctor gave the cause of death as suffocation.

Although puzzled over how the case came to be fastened air tight, police investigators said they had no reason to suspect foul play. A railway official told reporters: "The lad seemed to have breathed all the air inside the plastic covering, and it had contracted around him like a second skin."

Japan To Okinawa Naval Plane Lost With 17 On Board

TOKYO (AP)—A U. S. Navy amphibian plane carrying 17 men is missing on a flight between Japan and Okinawa, the Navy said tonight.

The PBM left Iwakuni Air Base at 5:30 a. m. and was last heard from at 6:55 a. m.

Air Force and Navy planes and Japanese and U. S. ships searched the sea but found no trace of the plane, the Navy said.

The plane was attached to Navy Patrol Squadron 47 at Iwakuni. It carried 15 officers and enlisted men from Iwakuni units and two Marine officers. Names were withheld.

Weather was bad in the area. Planes and ships will search the area again Thursday.

Grand Jury Indicts Detroit Bootleggers

DETROIT (AP)—A federal grand jury Tuesday indicated six men on five counts of bootlegging. Ronald L. Greenberg, assistant U. S. district attorney, said the six operated stills in Detroit and nearby communities. He said their operations cheated the government of $343,864 in whisky taxes on hundreds of gallons of cheap liquor. Greenberg said it was the biggest case cracked by revenue agents in this area in 15 years.

Soviet Fighter Planes All Jets

By VERN HAUGLAND
MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Soviet Russia is all jet in fighter aircraft, has virtually completed conversion of light bombers to jets, and before long may replace her B29 propeller-driven bombers with long-range jets capable of striking any part of the United States.

As a parallel to this "formidable atom-carrying force" of 20,000 airplanes, the Reds have increased their stockpile of atomic weapons and have developed nuclear or hydrogen-bomb weapons.

This was the summary of Communist strength presented to the Aviation Writers Assn. meeting here by Gen. O. P. Weyland, commander of the U. S. Tactical Air Force at Langley Air Force Base, Va., and former chief of the Far East Air Forces.

Weyland, in a prepared address, said that the Communists "will move cautiously as long as we have superiority in air power. The Reds made a mistake in starting the Korean war in an area where we had tactical air forces readily available. It is unlikely that they will repeat the same kind of mistake. We therefore must expect that they will launch future limited aggressions in more remote areas."

"This calls for increased emphasis upon tactical air forces, ready to move to any threatened area of the world and to go into action without delay."

Regular meetings are held each Tuesday at 8:30 p. m.

A banner year is expected for the Eagles in view of the increased activity planned by the president and his committee.

The first initiation under the new officers will take place June 29 and a class of 25 is expected.

Teamsters Urge Trucking Service To Carry Mails

Teamsters & Chauffeurs Local 328 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters endorsed increased use of trucking service to carry the U. S. mails "in the name of economy, efficiency and sound business practice."

In announcing the action, Arnold Alsten, secretary-treasurer of the labor organization, pointed out that a great deal of the Post Office Department's $663 million deficit could be wiped out "if trucks were used to move mail in situations where they can do the job more efficiently and cheaply than railroads. 'He explained that although trains still make the bulk of mail runs of less than 300 miles, "in almost every instance of a run that short, trucks are cheaper and better."

The resolution pointed out that the Post Office Department currently is saving $6-million annually by its limited use of truck service and predicted an $85-million saving if trucks were utilized to full advantage.

It noted that a 70 per cent decrease in mail trains in service since 1925 makes the use of trucks to handle mail all the more necessary. Successful experience in using trucks to handle mail in a 300-mile radius from Chicago, St. Louis and Birmingham, Ala., was cited as evidence of the potential of mail-by-truck.

Mr. Alsten announced he was sending personal letters to Congressmen Victor A. Knox and Senators Homer Ferguson and Charles E. Potter urging their support of the mail-by-truck program.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a holding operation with the railroads out in front in the early afternoon today in the aftermath of Tuesday's break.

The railroads had only scattered support, but it was enough to modify the market's otherwise lower tendency.

Gains and losses spread out over a range of around a point in either direction with the losers more numerous.

Lower stocks included New York Central, Standard Oil (NJ), Paramount Pictures, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Studebaker, Dow Chemical, Admiral Corp., and General Electric.

Higher were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Boeing, Homestake Mining, American Tobacco, Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, and Northern Pacific.

U. S. government bonds were slack.

Chief Of Nato Warns Russians

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—NATO's supreme commander in Europe, U. S. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, warned Russia Tuesday night that the West will meet a Soviet attack with "every weapon in our arsenal," including atomic bombs.

"In our thinking we visualize the use of atomic bombs in the support of our ground troops. We also visualize the use of atomic bombs on targets in enemy territory," Gruenther told a D-Day anniversary dinner at which Prime Minister Churchill also spoke and the Duke of Edinburgh presided.

If war with Russia should come this year, the NATO commander said, "the Soviet Union would be defeated."

"I do not want to say we would win," he added, "because I am sure in a third world war there would be no winner."

Gruenther also told his audience he was not sure time was on the side of the West. Russia's industrial and atomic stockpiles are mounting, he explained, and her air power displayed at the recent May Day parade in Moscow was "devastating."

But at present, he said, the Soviets have no answer to the Allies' long-range aircraft. He cited the big American B47 jet bomber, "a plane which can fly so fast and so high that there is no defense against it in 1954."

Gruenther told of one B47 which recently flew the Atlantic in 4 hours 34 minutes.

EDEN OFFERS PROPOSALS
At the same time, he stuck to his demands that supervision of the armistice agreements be handled by a mixed commission of Communist and non-Communist nations, made up of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Sweden. The West already has rejected the Communist supervision plan.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden advanced his own proposal Tuesday that policing of the armistice be placed in the hands of the five Asian nations whose premiers recently met at Colombo, Ceylon. They are India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia.

U. S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith supported Eden's proposals.

He's Really In Monkey Business But Hates 'Em

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(NEA)—Bill Williams cupped his hand over his mouth, set his lips tightly and whispered: "I hate monkeys."

He amplified: "I hate the sight of them. They're jealous little animals and I hate them."

Somewhere there are probably 10,000 psychologists who'd like to get to Bill Williams because his job is training monkeys.

He was whispering again, "These here monkeys are daddled orneries."

Why he was whispering, nobody knew; the monkeys did not pay any attention to him. To hear him tell it, they haven't paid any attention to him for 22 years.

The whole thing happened by mistake. Bill used to be a contractor, taking any kind of building—job for instance, circus wagons and gear, if the opportunity came up. Which it did in 1932.

Bill had finished the carpentry work for the Ruback circus when Jack Ruback himself came up with the plan that monkey business was good business, even for a contractor.

BILL WILLIAMS: A little place by the side of the road.

"Not me," Williams said. "I hate monkeys."

"Look," said Ruback. "The little fellows are in love with you already."

It was warm in San Antonio in 1932, and the honeysuckle threw sweetness into the air.

And so, Bill Williams threw caution to the winds, hammer and saw to the junk heap, and wandered into the land of baboon, ape and chimpanzee.

The first show was a yowling success. The new master of ceremonies was shaking so hard that the cage doors opened and five of the six monkeys escaped.

He went on stage anyway, telling the crowd how impolite monkeys were, how you had to treat them like children and show them off one at a time. The audience saw six monkey acts in six cages. Bill Williams ran himself ragged shoving that one chimp from one cage to the next.

"And if anybody caught on, nobody mentioned it," he said.

By the time the first season was half over, he had bought a new supply of animals and trained them. By the time the next season began he had lost touch with the building and contracting business. Bill Williams was a monkey man, tried and true.

Of all his stock, he remembers Jerry with as fond a thought as he can muster for the "little monsters." Jerry was a chimp who learned how to eat spinach out of a can—a trick that homo sapiens do not learn to relish.

Today, Bill has about 30 monkeys in his show from every country where they live. Teka, a Mexican spider monkey, still doesn't understand English, but she sweeps the cages and fetches water. Probably the friendliest of the brood are a couple of baboons from Borneo and Siam and a couple of chimps who live each day for a piggy-back ride.

But, of course, Bill hates them all.

"What I want," he whispered, sneaking a look at the cages, "is a little place by the side of a well-traveled road where I can sit with folks and just talk about God and politics."

Porcupines Clue In Sticky Dog Puzzle

CARROLLTON, Mo. (P)—Farmer John Sherwood got curious when his dog showed up with its muzzle stuck full of porcupine quills. The nearest known porcupine range is about 600 miles north or west of this northern Missouri town.

Conservation Agent John Madden solved the puzzle. He found a dozen dead porcupines in bales of hay shipped from Montana as emergency drought feed.

Mr. Peepers Of TV Married For Real

BOZMAN, Md. (P)—Wally Cox, who went through a make-believe wedding ceremony recently on television as the shy, bumbling Mr. Peepers, was married here Monday for real.

Cox shooed off newsmen, said he would deny it, then took Marilyn Gennaro, 20-year-old, red-haired Broadway dancer, as his bride. Cox gave his age as 29.

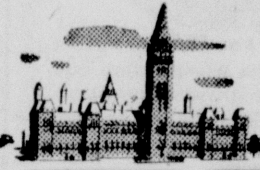

Flanked by a dozen close friends, the couple was married in an open-air ceremony at the waterfront home of Donald Seawell, New York attorney for many theatrical stars.

American Girl, 11, Featured Dancer In German Opera

By TOM STONE

FRANKFURT, Germany — A performer in the German Opera at the age of 11—that's the distinction of Carol Fontaine, as American as her red plaid shirt and blue jeans.

Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fontaine, formerly of Worcester, Mass., was the only American in "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp," presented here by the famous old Frankfurt Opera Co.

Move Halls Dance

She danced in the ballet until her parents moved to Darmstadt, where her father is director of the art department of Stars and Stripes, U. S. Army newspaper.

Carol was a "paid performer," she likes to point out.

"For the first performance I was paid 22 marks ($5.20). For each performance after that I was paid 2½ marks (60 cents). I spent all I earned on dancing lessons and a pair of ballet shoes."

Carol speaks German as well as she does English. She was three years old when she came to Germany with her parents.

That Proves It

"A lot of the German kids in the ballet didn't believe at first that I was an American. I speak the real Frankfurt dialect. Then one day I showed up in blue jeans. That convinced them."

Carol is in the fifth grade of an Army-run school. "I like reading and spelling best," she says, "but ballet dancing is what I really like."

BLUE JEANS go with ballet practice as Carol Fontaine, 11, takes German opera role.

Convicted Murderer, One Of FBI Top 10, Captured In Nevada

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI announced that John Alfred Hopkins, convicted murderer and an Arizona policeman and one of the FBI's "10 most wanted men," was seized Monday night at Gold Acre Mine, 30 miles south of Beowave, Nev.

Director J. Edgar Hoover said Hopkins was armed with three knives but surrendered without a struggle to FBI agents. Hoover said Hopkins had been living and working in the Gold Acre Mine area.

Hopkins escaped last Nov. 30 from Arizona State Prison, where he was serving an 8½-year to life sentence for the Feb. 19, 1945, slaying of a Wickenburg, Ariz., policeman. The officer had surprised Hopkins in the burglary of a drug store.

Defense Aide Back On Job With GM

DETROIT (AP)—Roger M. Kyes, who resigned early last month as assistant secretary of defense, is back in the General Motors family. He was re-appointed Monday as a vice president and made a corporate director for the first time.

Kyes, who took the defense post in January, 1953, had left GM as a vice president and general manager of the corporation's truck and coach division.

In Washington, he joined former GM president Charles E. Wilson who had been appointed Secretary of Defense by President Eisenhower.

Kyes, who joined GM in 1948, will again boss the truck and coach division. He was named also to the firm's operations policy committee and will head GM's Dayton and household appliance divisions.

The company directors, meeting in New York, also selected two other board members, Ivan L.

Wiles, Buick general manager, and Thomas H. Keating, general manager of the Chevrolet Division.

FOURTH GRADE WEATHERMEN check readings on their home made instruments.

AP Newsfeatures
ARLINGTON, Va. — Fourth grade pupils at the Matthew Maury School have made a class project out of the weather. Home-made instruments give them basic data and they are so enthusiastic they like the rain because it gives them something to measure. Now some of the boys are asking their dads to help set up home weather stations.

Frank Federico, one of the fathers, a shoemaker, helped with the station in the school yard. Four tablespoons, a sink strainer and two broomsticks were cobbled into a gadget to measure wind speed. A vane shows wind direction. An open tin can on a broomstick is marked for rain measurement.

The inside of a thermos bottle, the lid of a tin can, a glass tube and a bottle top made a barometer. Federico also provided a dewpoint thermometer and rigged a wet bulb thermometer. Another old broomstick holds parallel wires. The children sight along them at clouds to check upper-air wind direction.

Miss Marguerite Bean, the teacher, has been taking up each of the instruments in turn, explaining how they are used. On the classroom wall is a big chart showing the daily readings from each.

Her 34 pupils find the readings fun and she hopes they soon can make their own weather forecasts. She says that reading, writing and arithmetic are being learned at the same time the weather data is recorded. The pupils use their new knowledge for class themes. And accuracy an essential in weather readings, is also learned. Art classes are beginning to turn out pictures of clouds and even weather stations.

The boys helped assemble the instruments in the Federico basement. Now they are set up in a neat box on a post, which holds them at the proper height for the children.

After the ceremony, Herbert B. Riedel, 38, went back to Windsor, where he is a hospital orderly. Mrs. Valeria M. Unger, 40, returned to Chicago, where she works for a meat-packing company.

Riedel has been unable to come to the United States because quotas have been filled. Mrs. Unger who has a son by a previous marriage, went to Chicago in March 1953. Now the two are hoping the marriage will shorten his separation from his bride.

Mrs. Arrowood Is Speaker At Homemaker's Spring Tea

Mrs. Frank Arrowood of Manistique was principal speaker at the Homemaker's Spring Tea held Tuesday afternoon at the Gladstone High School gym with the Gladstone Home Demonstration clubs as hostesses and Mrs. Edward Eldridge as chairman.

Mrs. Arrowood gave an interesting story of the meeting of the Associated Country Women of the World which she attended in Toronto, Can., last fall, as representative of all Home Demonstration groups in the Upper Peninsula.

Large Representation
In her introduction she related that the ACWW represents 5½ million country women of 26 different nations. The organization works for better world conditions, especially in the under-developed countries. The theme of the conference was "How Can I as an Individual and Through My Society Contribute to Better International Relations."

Mrs. Arrowood told the group that after meeting and making friends with the women the countries they represented were people to her and no longer just places. Many of the countries have odds to overcome, she said, and all must begin where they are and with what they have. The ACWW group had many things in common. Many of them were mothers. One of the women said, "Certainly we underestimate our influence as mothers and teachers, forgetting the old saying, 'Men make the road but it is the women who teach the children to walk on it.'"

"Teach the Children"
An Australian woman said, "In all countries mothers are responsible for the training of children. If we can teach them to look on people of all races and creeds as friends it will not take too long before universal peace and good will are established." When she was asked how she found time for all her various activities she said, "We have an old saying in Australia, that if you want something done, go to the busiest woman you know and she will find time to do it."

Mrs. Leslie Bouschor, also of Manistique, gave a lively presentation of "Personality in Hats." Each hat she modeled represented a personality type such as The Gossip, The Worrier, The Undecided, The Dignified, The Brag-gart and Others.

Other numbers of the program were a song, "I'll Never Know," by Sharon Guertin of the Garden 4-H Club, and a tap dance by Darlene Charon and Betty Sundquist of the Pine Ridge 4-H Club who were costumed as Mickey and Minnie Mouse.

Mrs. Carr, Program Chairman
Mrs. Louis Carr served as program chairman.

Recreation ideas were set up by the Flat Rock, Rapid River, Town and Country, Skilled Jills, 3-G's, Sunnyside, Gay Beas, Jolly Jills, Do-ettes and the Neighborhood Home Demonstration groups with Mrs. Glenn Matheson of Escanaba as chairman.

The Bark River group with Mrs. Edwin Bergman as chairman, served on the reception committee

Wallet Recovered From Squirrel Thief

GALT, Mo. (P)—Home on an Army furlough, Justin Holt helped his brother put up hay. He lost his billfold containing $28. Months later the billfold, not a bit damaged and with the cash still in good shape, turned up below a squirrel den tree. The Holts figured some bushy-tail was attracted to the leather wallet and hid it in his nest. Then, apparently the squirrel's interest faded and he pushed it out of the nest.

Found Guilty Of Drunk Driving

Lauri Macki of Rock, was found guilty of driving an auto while under the influence of intoxicants following jury trial in the court of Justice of Peace A. Theodore Sohlberg here Tuesday.

A fine of $100 was imposed by Justice of Peace Sohlberg and costs approximated $75.

Notice of appeal to circuit court was filed by Atty. Clair J. Hoehn, Gladstone, defense counsel.

Forming the jury were Dr. A. H. Kimmond, E. A. Lawin, Cleve Krout Sr., Herb VanHorn, M. J. Magoon and R. W. Haddock.

Called by Prosecutor Nicholas Chapek to testify for the state were James Searles, Marie Pischel, Cpl. Mike Lalic of the Michigan State Police, Harold Finman and Eddie Coplan of the Escanaba Police Force; Donald Kassel, technician at St. Francis Hospital, and Clarence Muehlberger, East Lansing, of the Michigan Department of Health.

Defense witnesses were the defendant, his wife, Gust Klein of Perkins, Martin Schmidt of Gladstone and Jack Hughes of Escanaba.

Muehlberger testified that a blood sample sent him for analysis showed an alcoholic content of 0.24% and that 0.15% generally was considered evidence of intoxication.

Atty. Hoehn argued against admission of this evidence contending there is still a question as to the constitutionality of the blood or breath tests.

Pastor To Attend Synod Convention

The Rev. Clifford Peterson, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, is leaving Friday evening for Los Angeles to attend the annual National Synodical convention of the Augustana Lutheran Church which opens on Monday, June 14, and continues through Sunday, June 20.

Rev. Peterson will be absent from the city for about two weeks.

Attorney Hoehn Rotary Speaker

An interesting and informative talk on Common Problems in Real Estate Transactions was given by Atty. Clair J. Hoehn Monday noon at the usual Rotary luncheon meeting at the Yacht Club.

A sound purchase and sales contract is a "must" in all cases, he declared.

Deeds, he said, are of two kinds: quit claim and warranty. If the title is good the quit claim deed is as good as a warranty deed, Hoehn declared. The latter guarantees the maker will stand expense of litigation if the title is not valid, but it may be seen that the warranty is only as good as the financial standing of the maker.

Various forms of ownership were named and described in brief.

As to who affixes revenue stamps, Atty. Hoehn said it was the duty of both parties although usually the seller did it. Who will do it should be stated in the purchase and sales contract.

A title opinion on any piece of property is important, the speaker said.

The purpose and function of an abstract was detailed and the speaker said it was not necessary to obtain a new abstract each time as the old one could be recertified.

The difference between a land contract and deed and mortgage purchase plan was outlined and the speaker said the latter was the most satisfactory form.

Doe, Yearling Provide Thrills

Monday afternoon Police Officer Jim Norrick had an unexpected thrill when two deer, a doe with a yearling walked within 15 feet of him on Railway Ave.

Officer Norrick had stopped to question a transient at the side of the road and as he talked to the man the two deer walked between the two men and the auto. Getting a drink of water in a nearby ditch they returned again passing close to them and exhibiting no outward sign of fear.

Yesterday after dinner, David Neff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Neff, 1720 Minneapolis Ave., went outside his house and there not far away were two deer. They went on into the MacGillis & Gibbs pole yard but David was able to watch them for a time and had a real thrill from the experience.

You'll hit the ceiling, too!

Have you seen the bill for our national debt? 273 billion dollars! That's only 2 billion under the legal limit — the ceiling we may have to raise again in 1954.

$273,000,000,000 represents the money our Treasury has borrowed to finance government spending in excess of its income.

Your personal share is $1,710.90 — same as for every man, woman and child in the United States. And it doesn't even include interest, which, at less than 2½%, is running more than $6,500,000,000. Think of it! Six billion, five hundred million dollars a year just to pay the interest!

This is what 20 years of dissolute spending have done to us. And with all our high taxes, we'll fall still further behind unless government spending is slowed down. That's the biggest job that faces this administration!

The way to reduce government expenses is to reduce them. That means cutting down (or cutting out) some of the overgrown agencies, bureaus, divisions, boards, services, missions and projects. The more help and encouragement they get from you — to cut the cost of government and cut taxes — the sooner they'll make real headway. Write your congressman today.

Presbyterian Pastor Is Ordained And Installed

Alan S. Miller, a recent seminary graduate who a few weeks ago accepted a call to the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry and installed as pastor of the local Presbyterian congregation at ceremonies here Tuesday evening.

The services were conducted by pastors of the Lake Superior Presbytery, each member present conducting some part of the ceremony culminating in charges to the pastor and to the congregation and the laying on of hands.

The sermon of the evening was delivered by the Rev. James H. Bell, of Escanaba who dealt with the theme that the church is essentially "the body of Christ" as against "the heresy, 'I can be a Christian with the church.'"

The ordination service consisted of: Invocation, the Rev. Elijah J. James, Ph. D. Scripture reading, the Rev. James H. Bell.

Prayer, the Rev. Paul Sobel. Sermon, the Rev. Mr. Bell. Constitutional statement and questions to the candidate, by the Rev. Joseph D. Ryan, moderator, Lake Superior District. Prayer of Ordination, by Moderator.

Mark Olson Will Compete For World Birling Championship

When you use the old bromide "It's as easy as falling off a log" be sure you're not talking to Escanaba's Mark Olson, who according to the record book is the second best log birler in the world.

Mark has fallen off a few logs in his time, but it was never easy and his birling record since 1947 in world competition indicates there are only a couple of people living who can make him tumble when he doesn't want to.

Escanaba sports fans are most apt to associate Olson, former Michigan Tech athlete, with the sport of hockey where he stars as player-coach of the Escanaba Hawks, proud holder of the championship Doc Gibson Trophy in the Northern Michigan Hockey League.

Thrice Runner-Up

But Mark has a greater claim to fame in national log-rolling circles. Competing in the world's championship role, Mark advanced to the quarterfinals in his debut in 1947 and repeated in 1948. He came into his own in a big way in 1951 and advanced to the championship round before losing to world titlist Jim Running of Eau Claire, Wis. It was the same story in 1952 and last year, Mark losing in the championships to the expert Running.

When the 1954 world championship role is conducted at Priest River, Idaho, June 26-27 Olson will again be shooting to dethrone Running along with some 20 other birlers from United States and Canadian cities.

Mark will leave for Priest River with his wife Elaine and son Mickey on June 21. Enroute he will pick of George Mathison, formerly of Gladstone, in Milwaukee. Mathison is secretary-treasurer of the National Role Association.

Other U. P. Birlers

Other representatives of the Upper Peninsula who will take part in the role include Adolph,

OLSON IN ACTION—Mark Olson shows the form that has carried him into the championship match in the past three world's roles as he spills Jim Ogle (right) in a recent exhibition at the opening of the North Wisconsin Logging

Camp and Museum at Hayward, Wis. Ogle conducts a log rolling school in connection with the Hayward camp, teaching young people the skills of birling.

Billy and Lowell Girard, Bob Bizeau and probably Janis Hoffmann of Gladstone, and Jim Ogle of Marquette.

The sport of log birling is all-American in origin. As the favorite sport of the lumberjack, it originated in the log drives of the New England states and moved westward to the Great Lakes regions and the Pacific Northwest.

On the spring drives downriver, the lumberjacks got their first experience in managing themselves on the moving carpet of logs. Clad in "staggered" overalls, woolen shirts and high-topped calked boots, they would leap from log to log, pushing, prying and pulling to keep the logs moving.

It required skill and endurance to hop on a log with an opponent, spin it rapidly in the water with the feet, stop it suddenly, reverse its motion and in various ways maneuver an opponent off balance and into the water.

Use Three Logs

Three lathe-turned pine logs are used for matches in world's championship competition. Log No. 1 is 20 inches in diameter and 13 feet long. Time limit on the log is three minutes.

Log No. 2 is 17 inches in diameter and 13 feet in length. Time limit varies from three to 10 minutes. Long No. 3, the fast log, is 15 inches in diameter and 13 feet long and is aptly termed "the toothpick" by birlers.

Two falls out of three decide each match and the role is conducted on an elimination basis, like a basketball tournament.

When the 1954 role starts in Priest River, Escanaba's representative will have to get by some of the best rollers in the world to get another crack at Running. As defending champion, Running automatically draws a bye into the semifinals.

Olson's friends and fans will be pulling for him to unseat Running from his top position in the world of log rolling late this month.

Will Miracle Last If Braves Keep Losing Games At Home?

By BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer

How long will the Milwaukee Miracle last if the Braves continue to save their winning baseball for their road trips?

With the top home attendance in either league—648,659 cash customers for 23 single games and two twin bills—the Braves have won for the home folks only 11 times. They've been beaten in County Stadium 16 times.

On the road it's an entirely different story—14 victories, including one streak of 9 straight, and only 6 losses.

The Braves are in fourth, four games behind the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers. They came home May 28 in first place by a game and a half but promptly dropped 8 of 11, including a 6-5 heartbreaker to the New York Giants Tuesday night.

Giants Win In Ninth

The Giants, trailing from the time Joe Adcock hit a grand slam home run in the first inning, won on two runs in the ninth. Al Dark singled for his fourth hit, Hank Thompson walked and Monte Irvin doubled them home.

The Chicago White Sox took sole possession of first place in the American League by whipping Philadelphia 9-3 while Cleveland was bowing 5-2 to Washington on Maury McDermott's two-hitter. Billy Hoelt gave the New York Yankees only two hits as the Tigers won 8-0. Baltimore beat Boston 7-4.

Brooklyn's 10-game winning streak ended with a bang. The Dodgers were trounced 10-3 by the St. Louis Cardinals. Chicago edged Philadelphia 6-5 and Cincinnati tripped Pittsburgh 5-0.

Musial Hits 20th

Brooklyn committed four errors and the Cardinals combed Carl Erskine and two successors for 16 hits. Stan Musial hit his 20th homer in either league, and a triple, driving in four runs. Wally Moon drove in another four with a triple and three singles.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies succumbed to the home run power of the Cubs. Ralph Kiner hit a pair, his 9th and 10th, and Hank Sauer hit his 19th.

The White Sox broke open their game at Philadelphia with five runs in the seventh inning. A single, double and walk filled the bases. One run scored on Minnie Minoso's sacrifice fly, two more on Ferris Fain's double and a final pair on George Kell's home run. Virgil Trucks scattered four hits in winning his eighth game. He has been beaten three times.

The Indians sorely missed their injured big guns, Bobby Avila and Al Rosen, as they lost to Washington for the first time this season. The only Cleveland hits were a pair of singles by Al Smith. Eddie Yost, whacked a three-run homer off loser Early Wynn.

Hoelt had a no-hitter going against the Yankees until Irv Noren scratched a single off the glove of shortstop Harvey Kuenn to open the seventh.

Kuenn led the 14-hit Detroit attack against loser Ed Lopat, and two relief pitchers with two doubles and two singles which drove in four runs.

Baltimore broke Boston's four-game winning streak with four runs in the last two innings, two of them on Gil Coan's eighth-inning double.

Hoelt, Tigers Sharp In Belting Yanks 8-0

NEW YORK (AP)—All of a sudden much happened to the Detroit Tigers Tuesday night—most of it good.

Young Billy Hoelt, in a splendid performance, shut out the New York Yankees on two hits as his teammates jumped out of the doldrums for an 8-0 victory.

Billy's was one of the smoothest jobs of the whole major league season. And his mates collected 14 hits off three pitchers including the trickster Eddie Lopat.

As a result, the Tigers today had a new lease on life with their four-game losing streak just a bad memory. They'll try to salvage more from the Yankees today on the awful road tour. George Zuverink (2-0) pitched against Whitey Ford (3-4).

Trade For Belardi

The Tigers also engineered a four-man trade-and-purchase deal with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

This brings young, lefthanded first baseman Wayne Belardi to Detroit in exchange for the veteran outfielder and first baseman Charley Kress and two minor leaguers yet to be named.

Also, the Tigers turned over a "substantial" cash sum to the Dodgers.

Belardi, a Dodger bonus player of 1948, was a slugger of repute in the minors, including St. Paul and Port Worth.

Hoelt's sensational victory—it was a no-hitter for six innings—and the trade took some of the sting out of something else.

Hutch, Players Fined

Total fines of $100 were slapped on Hutchinson and two players, Ray Boone and Frank House, by American League President Will Harridge last night.

The revived Tigers included among their 14 hits last night Boone's eighth home run of the year, four hits by Harvey Kuenn as Harvey's slump ended, and three hits by Dropp, including a triple. Boone got two singles besides his homer. Kuenn hit two doubles.

Here's how good Hoelt was with his fast ball and curve: Eight Yankees popped out to the infield, 12 went out to the outfield, and three died on grounders. Billy walked only one man. He struck out three.

It was Hoelt's third win against four defeats.

With Ray Crandall

Jim Bolm, Escanaba High School's classy basketball center last season, was presented with a certificate from the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association at the annual awards day program at the senior high yesterday. . . . Bolm landed a berth on the All-U. P. Class B second team. . . . The fact that he was ill and missed several games in mid-season undoubtedly cost him a berth on the first team. . . . Jim scored 191 points in the regular season and added 60 in tournament games as the Eskymos advanced to the U. P. regionals. . . . John Quinn of Gladstone also made the All-U. P. Class B second team and Jerry McDonough of St. Joe was named to the Class C first team. . . . This is the first year the Sports Writers Association has awarded certificates to athletes who make the All-U. P. teams.

Dick Schram of the Escanaba High School faculty will take in the huge 33rd annual National Collegiate Track and Field championships at Ferry Field, University of Michigan on Friday and Saturday. . . . Some of the greatest dashmen in the world will be running in the meet. . . . Willie Williams of Illinois has run the century this season in :09.5 and :09.4, while Dean Smith of Texas has recorded :09.3 with the aid of a wind at his back.

The Upper Peninsula is losing one of its most highly regarded football coaches next year as Harry Monson, former Escanaba High School athlete, surrenders the reins at Iron River to take over the principal's job. . . . Monson was named "U. P. Coach of the Year" in football three times by the U. P. Sports Writers Association. . . . In eight years at Iron River, Monson turned out three undefeated teams while winning 46 of 58 games for a percentage of a fraction under 80 per cent victories. . . . The new Iron River High School principal is married to the former Esther Bergman of Escanaba and they have three children.

Speaking of football, it's not as far off as you might think. . . . Upper Peninsula prep grid practice will begin Aug. 16 and teams will open their schedules the first week in September. . . . In Lower Michigan no schools may begin practice before Aug. 30.

The St. Joe Boosters came from behind to win 7-6 over Kiwanis last night in Escanaba Jaycee Little League play.

LeRoy Lancour banged out his fourth straight hit in the final inning to account for the run. Don Provo hurled the win, allowing nine hits. Joe Frapier was the loser, giving up seven.

Home runs were hit by Stasewich for Kiwanis with one on in the third and Chenier for Kiwanis with two on in the fifth.

Kiwanis will meet Rotary Thursday.

Landy Again Fails In Record Attempt

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Australian ace miler John Landy failed Tuesday night in his try for a elusive four minute mile. The 24-year-old Australian ran in the cold and rain and was clocked in 4:01.6 trying to break Roger Bannister's 3:59.4 mile record.

He was caught in exactly the same time he turned in last week at Turku, Finland.

Landy will try again June 11 at Olympic Stadium in Helsinki, Finland.

Camps Pitches Bears To Win Over Redskins

With Charlie Camps scattering five hits from the hill while fanning six batsmen, the Escanaba Bears posted their second straight exhibition victory by downing the Gladstone Redskins of the Bay de Noc League 6-2 before a good crowd here yesterday.

The Bears put across four runs in the first two innings to set the stage for the win. A single by Tippy Larmay scored Joe Ricci and Ed Gauthier in the initial frame.

With the bases loaded in the second inning, Gladstone pitcher Harlan Breitman tossed two wild pitches to allow Bob Rodman and Camps to score.

Gladstone scored both its runs in the fifth. Jim Kennedy grove in Norman Butler and John Miller singled to send Mel Rothchild home. The Bears ended scoring with two insurance runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Escanaba collected eight hits off Breitman and Tod Butler who pitched the sixth inning for Gladstone. PeeWee Marenger and Camps hit doubles and Dick Lough set the plate pace with two for three. Breitman fanned two and Butler one.

Next start for the Bears will be a home stand against the Munising team on Tuesday, June 15.

Northland Wins 8-0 On Dufresne's One-Hitter

Ken Dufresne twirled a one-hitter and fanned 11 batters as the Northland Breads beat Rapid River 8-0 to remain undefeated in American League softball play.

The only safety off Dufresne was a double by George Peterson in the fifth inning. In three winning starts on the Northland hill this season Dufresne has pitched two three-hitters and last night's one-hit gem.

Northland collected 10 hits off Rapid River pitching, including a bases loaded double by Bob Dufour in the fourth inning in which four runs crossed the plate. Northland opened scoring with two in the first and two in the second innings.

In the preliminary game Anderson Brothers won a 10-7 National League practice game from Westby's.

Durocher Says Bruton Fastest In Baseball

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"All he needs to get on base is a ground ball that bounces twice."

It was Leo Durocher talking Tuesday night in the New York Giants dugout. He was speaking of Milwaukee's Billy Bruton, who the night before had collected three such hits off New York pitching.

"He's the fastest man in the league at getting down to first," expounded the Giant manager. "Well, maybe Richie Ashburn is as fast, but he's no faster."

But Bruton got on base only once Tuesday night—he was hit by one of Windy McCall's pitches.

Home Economics Club
DANFORTH—The final meetings of the Danforth Home Economics Club were held recently at the home of Mrs. Art Anderson. No lesson was available at the time and in place of it two evenings were spent in making bandages and dressings for the American Cancer Society. Lunch was served after each work session.

Parents And Children Found Shot To Death

PARSIPPANY-TROY HILLS, N. J. (AP)—Four persons—a father, mother and their two children—were found shot to death in their home in what police theorized was a triple murder and suicide.

Police Chief Leo d'Orsi said the bodies of Frank Waller, 44, his wife, Geneva, no age available, and their sons, Richard, 12, and Douglas, 10, were found in the house.

D'Orsi said they all apparently had been shot with a .22 caliber revolver. He theorized it was a triple murder and suicide by the father.

A neighbor told police she thought she heard a series of shots at about 10:30 o'clock Monday night.

West Berlin Stores Attract Blue Shirts

BERLIN (AP)—City officials said 238 young Blue Shirts from East Germany sneaked across the East-West border over the weekend and asked for asylum in West Berlin. The youths—180 boys and 58 girls—were attending a giant three-day Communist youth rally in East Berlin. City officials said since most of the youths were not seeking asylum because of political motives they would be advised to return home. City officials said they had been attracted by the full show windows of West Berlin.

How Act Works

Three recent instances show how the Act works. In the Department of Interior, on Feb. 2, the Bureau of Reclamation awarded a contract for transformers to the American Elin Corporation of Austria; its bid, adjusted for comparison, was $531,099.50 while the lowest bid from a U. S. firm was $713,567.61. On other transformer contracts the same day, the Department's Bonneville Power Administration passed over a bid of $268,050 from American Elin in favor of a bid of $403,650 from a U. S. firm, Maloney Electric; and a bid of $558,600 from American Elin and one of $634,890 from English Electric, in favor of a bid of $711,346 from Westinghouse. The grounds were that the foreign bidders, though currently making this type of transformer, have not yet had adequate experience in the field.

In the Defense Department, bids for governors for hydraulic turbines in the Portland District of the Army Engineers are currently under consideration from Achi, Ltd. of Tokyo, $1,073,522; Costruzioni Meccaniche Riva of Milan, $1,163,628; Pelton Waterwheel Co. of San Francisco, $1,314,785; and Woodward Governor Co. of Rockford, Ill., $1,325,888. Commenting, Rep. John F. Shelley (D. Calif.) said, "What can the Secretary of the Army be thinking of when he even considers sending work out of the country at this time?" General Electric Co., protesting a January award to English Electric on a bid of $3,651,476 (including $422,000 payment of U. S. tariff) for two generators on which GE had bid $4,292,701, claimed that the taxes that the U. S. government would have collected had the work been done in this country would have amounted to $96,000 more than the difference between the bids.

GRIM REMINDERS

LONGPORT, N. J. (AP)—Municipal Judge Walter Wunsch not only requires traffic violators to pay a fine, but also makes them sit down and look through a book of pictures showing highway accident victims and their smashed automobiles. "Take a good look—it might have been you," he warns the violators.
